Senate Approves $46-Billion

Vote Defense Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has heeded Sen. Richard B. Russell's warning that "we can't afford to be second best" and voted unanimously to spend more than $46 billion for defense.

The 76-0 approval Wednesday night of the biggest money bill of the fiscal year — $46,774,401,000 — sends the appropriation to the House, which earlier voted some $15 million less. After the House acts, a committee of both chambers will arrange a compromise figure.

The Senate amount is $1.4 billion less than Congress forked over to the Pentagon last year and more than $696 million below President Johnson's initial budget requests.

The unanimous vote is misleading in sense. Debate was angry at times and Russell, floor manager for the bill, had to fight off efforts to cut the amount and to protect government shipyards. After nine hours the veteran Georgia Democrat had his way — on every test.

Russell claimed huge multi-billion-dollar outlays for manpower, missiles, submarines and other expensive military hardware must continue for the foreseeable future.

Most of the dispute centered on efforts of Navy yard supporters to get a large share of nearly $2 billion in the bill to construct, repair and convert the Navy's fleet of existing and new ships.

As part of an economy effort, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has shut down large numbers of military bases and establishments. Now he is looking over government owned and operated ship yards.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., tried to tack on a bill a rider to prevent a shutdown of any yards unless appropriate congressional committees got advance notice and agreed.

Opponents argued this was an attempt at congressional veto on executive decisions. It was shot down on a voice vote.

No Decision By LBJ On VP Choice

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson said today he would want the Democratic vice-presidential nominee to be attractive, prudent, and progressive with a passionate consideration for the welfare of the people—but "I've made no decision" on the choice.

The President told a suddenly called news conference:

"There are still many people being considered."

He mentioned no names.

And in a session ranging over a wide assortment of subjects, Johnson said:

Economy—Economic and financial conditions are bright but his administration still is looking toward the future and giving a close look to heading off any renewed wage - price spiral or any slowdown of the economy. He conferred on these and kindred matters Wednesday with top government executives.

Nuclear Tests—A year ago, a nuclear test-ban agreement was signed and now has more than 100 nations adhering to it. But even were it ended tomorrow, Johnson said, we would be "safer than we were before." And he said we now live in a world in which "terror does not govern our waking lives."

TV Violence Under Fire From Dodd

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Thomas J. Dodd said today prime television time is permeated with programs "featuring excessive crime, violence and debased moral standards."

In a statement prepared for the Senate Juvenile Delinquency subcommittee on the reopening of its hearings on television programming, the Connecticut Democrat said developments since its original inquiry in 1961-62 failed to demonstrate "the increased concern and cooperation we were led to expect."

Dodd, the subcommittee chairman, said that early this year he had ordered a study of current programs to assess whether the reduction of violence predicted by network officials in 1961 and 1962 had actually occurred.

"I find that with the exception of one network, CBS, very little improvement is evident," he said. "Not only did we fail to see an appreciable reduction of violence in new shows, but we also found that the most violent shows of the 1961-62 season have been syndicated and are now being shown on independent networks and stations."

"We discovered that unjustifiable violence and brutality permeate new shows which center around college campuses, hospitals, psychiatrists' office and other unlikely locations, in addition to the presence of violence in its earlier habitats—adventure, Western and detective programs."

36th Cosmos Up

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union launched the 36th unmanned satellite in its Cosmos series today. Tass said the satellite carried scientific equipment for further study of outer space.

The Soviet news agency said Cosmos 36 made its first revolution of the earth in 91.9 minutes. Its greatest distance from earth was given as 314.3 miles and its closest point 161.8 miles.

Previous satellites in the 2-year-old Cosmos series have had much the same characteristics.

Play Director Dead

SEA CLIFF, N.Y. (AP) — Winifred Lenihan, 66, Broadway actress, director of plays and exhibits, and a leader in Actors Equity, died Monday at her home, it was learned Wednesday. Miss Lenihan's picture was on the cover of McCall's magazine in 1928 as one of the "10 most beautiful women in the world."

She was given $300,000 for exemplary damages.

The jury in June said Walker should be given $500,000 for actual damages and $300,000 for exemplary damages.

Since Judge Murray said no malice existed, he threw out the jury award of $300,000 for exemplary damages.

In another case the Commission authorized Fidelity Telephone Co. of Sullivan, Mo., to build and operate a telephone system in Stony Hill, Gasconade County.

Stony Hill now is served by an inadequate and outdated mutual telephone system. Fidelity operates exchanges in Owingsville, New Haven and Sullivan.

Engle arose to his feet, assisted by two aides, stood silently for an agonizing minute and could utter only one audible sound — "A . . ."

Facing a second brain operation April 24, Engle dropped his plans to try for a second term in the Senate.

He had been opposed in the primary by both Salinger and Cranston and nine others. Many of his former supporters had contended he was unable to campaign and carry out his Senate duties.

The senator had been bedridden since his second brain operation in April.

But he came to the Senate in a wheel chair last June to cast his vote in favor of the civil rights bill.

Engle's wife, Lucretia, and a physician were with him when he died early this morning.

The body will be taken to his home in Red Bluff, Calif., for burial. Other funeral arrangements were incomplete.

Doctors said the second operation was "a craniotomy performed to relieve pressure."

In Eastern Industrial States

Draw Campaign Battle Line

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson and GOP presidential nominee Barry Goldwater appear to be preparing to make the Eastern industrial states a prime battleground in the election campaign.

Johnson signaled his intentions with Wednesday's selection by the Democratic arrangements committee—at the President's suggestion—of liberal Sen. John O. Pastore of Rhode Island as keynoter for the party's Atlantic City, N.J., convention which opens Aug. 24.

Goldwater told a news conference in announcing that Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania will be host at a GOP summit conference at Hershey, Pa., next month that he intends to campaign in the northeastern states.

"I don't buy the argument that we don't have potential power in New York State," he said.

Pastore, who worked closely

Ann Landers Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: We are middle-class people of modest means. My husband's take home pay is slightly under $118 a week. It is not easy to manage today on his salary. Fortunately we own our home free and clear, and the company provides us with a car or we couldn't make it.

The problem is that my husband insists on giving our 14-year-old son $10 a week to spend on anything he wants. This does not include clothing, school supplies or tickets to sports events.

I've told him this is not right, but he says, "Money gives people confidence. When I was a kid I was so ashamed of not having a nickel in my pocket I swore it would never happen to my son."

Last night I sat down with the boy and asked him to tell me what he had done with this week's allowance. Almost all of it was spent treating friends to sodas, sundaes, hamburgers and movies. My husband says this is "generous." I say the boy is trying to buy popularity.

May I hear what you have to say? Could I be wrong?—MINORITY OF ONE

Dear Minority: I hope you can get an outsider to talk to your husband before he ruins his son for life.

African Sect On Rampage Of Murders

LUCKA, Northern Rhodesia (AP) — Terrified refugees say warriors of the fanatic Lumpa religious sect speared 50 African men to death in two North Rhodesian villages, drove the surviving women and children into grass huts and burned them alive.

The refugees from neighboring villages said 200 men, women and children died in the slaughter at Chipwata and El-mabundo, near the sect's headquarters in the northeast sector of this central African British territory.

Some 1,600 Africans fled Wednesday to the mission station at Mulanga, 20 miles away, seeking protection from the disciples of Lumpa "prophetess" Alice Leshima who have been on a rampage of murder, arson and looting for more than a week.

Previously the government had reported 41 dead, including 30 Lumpas.

Troops stood guard over the refugees while the rest of a 1,200-man force of troops and police prepared a full-scale attack on the marauders. Prime Minister Kenneth Kaunda, head of Northern Rhodesia's first all-African government, promised: "There will be no appeasement of the sect."

Alice Leshima, a matronly woman in her 40s, was reported holed up in Kasomo village, six miles from Chinsali. Government officials were reported unwilling to capture her for fear of setting off more violence.

Integrating Public Places Discussed by Panel Members

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP) — Civil rights panel members assured an audience of 150 Wednesday that integration of public accommodations under the new civil rights law can be done, but it will take time.

People will finally come around to integration, "maybe not this year," but eventually, Frank Lupsha, operator of the Holiday Inn here, said.

Speaking from his own personal experience, Lupsha said, he's not worried. He integrated his motel some time ago, and the motel pool was used by a Negro for the first time a week ago Monday.

It caused comment, Lupsha said, but nothing serious. To a guest who voiced a mild complaint, Lupsha said he replied, "It's the law."

The panel discussion here was the third of a series of regional discussions of the new law held under auspices of the state Commission on Human Rights.

One of the questions tossed at the panel and fielded by Lupsha

Housewives Not Extended Full Saving

By OVID A. MARTIN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Agriculture Department report showed today that slightly less than half the big decline in cattle prices that started early in 1963 has been passed on to consumers in the form of lower retail prices of beef.

Figures supplied by the report showed that prices of choice grade slaughter steers sold at Kansas City, a representative livestock market, averaged $24.44 a hundred pounds during the first five months of 1963.

During the like period this year, the average price was $21.46, or 12 per cent less than a year earlier.

By comparison, retail prices of choice grade beef averaged 82.5 cents a pound during the first five months of last year, but 77.6 cents in the like period this year. This represented a decline of 5.9 per cent in the retail prices.

Some farm groups have complained that the full effect on the cattle price decline had not been passed along to consumers. These complaints played a role in action of Congress, recommended by the administration, that a commission be created to study farm and food prices and other factors in the problem of relatively low farm income.

The report showed that prices of choice grade slaughter steers in May of this year averaged 9.2 per cent below May of last year. But retail prices of beef that month this year were down only 3.6 per cent from the like month last year.

Department officials said information used in preparing today's report undoubtedly will be supplied the food study commission when it starts its work later in the year.

Chicago Crowds See Kennedy Collection

CHICAGO (AP) — Doors were kept open past midnight Wednesday night to admit crowds lined up to see the John F. Kennedy momento collection on its last day in Chicago.

A spokesman announced that some 92,000 persons saw the exhibit during its seven days in Chicago, bringing the attendance total in 11 cities to 585,000.

Included in the exhibit are Kennedy's rocking chair, the books he kept on his desk and the coconut he used in World War II to float a message that he and his PT boat crew were stranded on an island.

Confusing Changes Muddle Outlook on Foreign Policy

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Chinese firecrackers sputter and crackle on the world diplomatic stage, and a strange spectacle is unfolding.

Confusing changes in the global picture are in prospect, foretelling new foreign policy problems for the next U.S. administration.

At the center of the spectacle is West Germany, like a ponderous coquette at an international ball. Suitors in both camps eye one another with hostile suspicion.

Peter Robertson, executive director of the state Human Rights Commission, served as moderator of the panel, and the new law was explained by James Murphy, assistant attorney general.

Robertson said he was pleased with the voluntary compliance of Springfield public accommodations proprietors.

Springfield has no formal ordinance forbidding discrimination. One that was under consideration more than a year ago was forestalled by an agreement among Springfield motel, hotel and restaurant owners to integrate their establishments voluntarily.

The state, however, needs an anti-discrimination law, under which local problems can be referred to the state if the individual communities are unable to handle them, Robertson said.

Preliminary Aug. 5 For Accused Slayer

PLATTE CITY, Mo. (AP) — A preliminary hearing has been postponed until Aug. 5 for Andrew Jackson Walker, accused of killing Mrs. Hattie Biscoe, 83.

Walker, 38, also charged with murdering Mrs. Biscoe's daughter, Mrs. Marion Biscoe, 67, faces trial in September on that charge.

The postponement was agreed upon in magistrate court Wednesday.

Would-be Bandit Leaves Own Money

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A reluctant bandit not only fled from the scene of an attempted hold-up Wednesday night, he left a dollar of his own money.

Ross Urnise, owner of the store at 2303 Independence Blvd., said the man plunked down a package of gum, gave the checker, Mrs. Doris Dufield, a dollar, then pulled a pistol on her.

"This is it," he growled.

Urnise said he reached for his pistol under the counter and the man fled.

Apart from Red Chinese muscle-flexing, there are a number of reasons why the Russians at this stage might want to play ball with West Germany.

Moscow has been restive about French-German cooperation, which reached a point of near-euphoria early in 1963 when Konrad Adenauer still was at the helm in Bonn. The two countries have less in the way of a common policy now.

Erhard does not buy the idea of a European policy independent of the United States.

Well, the Democrats will have nearly twice as many delegates at their convention, which begins Aug. 24 in Atlantic City, N.J. Young Star Anxious For Stage Fame

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Debbie Watson, a bubbling, wide-eyed 15-year-old, today can walk down any Los Angeles street, or order a cheeseburger at any drive-in without causing any undue stir.

By the time Thanksgiving rolls around all this will change because pretty, typical-teen Debbie, for better or for worse, will then be a recognizable television star. A Los Angeles youngster whose previous theatrical experience included only some roles in community theaters and at Knott's Berry Farm, she has the title role on NBC's new "Karen," one of the three situation comedies strung together under the umbrella title of "90 Bristol Court," which will debut in October.

Debbie awaits the change of status with undisguised impatience.

"I've already gotten four fan letters," she announced breathlessly. "And I can't imagine how anybody knew about me."

Debbie and I were joined for the studio luncheon break by Richard Denning, television's former "Mr. North" and "Michael Shayne," who is playing her father in the series.

Debbie listened politely and murmured sympathetically, but it was obvious that she couldn't imagine fame ever becoming a bore.

Every Stranger Not Angel

Currently in Sedalia there is a rash of incidents concerning prowlers around and intruders inside homes, exclusive of numerous forcible entries.

Naturally householders are disturbed. A few threaten violence to culprits if they encounter them. This of course, depends upon whether the culprits draw the first bead. Any wild west or vigilante activities of a violent nature are being discouraged by the authorities who prefer to take the leading role in any apprehensions. The problem here seems to be how to initiate an effective holding action while awaiting arrival of the police. Most prowlers are fleet-footed when flushed from the bushes.

An intruder who makes forcible entry into a home is something more of a problem to deal with. Following a surprise encounter he may or may not flee depending upon his determination to complete what he set out to do. This could include all kinds of horrible consequences. A woman would be better off to start screaming instead of fighting to overcome and hold her assailant for the police. Odds are the latter strategy has limited success.

Not many burglars are brave enough to break into a home when occupants are known to be present. But they do walk in when the front or back door is left open or unlocked. Some bent on a mission of stealing household effects only, when surprised in the act, use the ruse they were in the wrong house. Others induce the housewife to let them use the telephone; or come into the front room for the purpose of continuing a simulated sales talk on some product they purport to be peddling.

Housewives should be as over-cautious about letting strangers in their home as motorists ought to be about picking up hitchhikers. A well-groomed hitchhiker may suddenly rob, knife, slug, molest, shoot, or kill the driver who gives him a lift. FBI files are full of such cases of brutalities.

"When a motorist takes a stranger into his car, he is putting himself at the mercy of that stranger," warns J. Edgar Hoover.

By the same token, a housewife alone or otherwise insufficiently protected puts herself at the mercy of a stranger when she permits him to enter her home.

More alertness to the activities of prowlers and intruders is suggested, as well as quick communication with the police.

CHARLESTOWN (W. Va.) DAILY MAIL: "Oversold on Marriage." — American teenagers are being "over-sold" on marriage and parenthood, says Dr. Judson T. Landis, professor of sociology at the University of California. At this point the cynic might observe that so is everyone else, but give the man a chance. He has some figures to back him up.

A lot of children have persuaded themselves that marriage is a symbol of adulthood and the badge of social acceptance. Well, in a way it is, of course. Ask any hardened veteran. But there is one staggering fact, which ought to cool the most rapturous romance and usually does: On a national average, teen-age husbands and fathers earn little more than $2,000 a year.

Now $2,000 a year may seem a lot of money to kids who have been living bountifully on "handouts," but it is only about one-third the average wage for adults and well below the official definition for poverty.

Teen-age marriage, then, has been "oversold" by at least $1,000 and probably $4,000, and the chances of living happily, or otherwise, ever after may be measured accordingly.

What Does Future Hold for Scranton?

By DREW PEARSON

BLOOMSBURG, Pa. — The American people this month suddenly became aware, via television, of a smiling young man named Scranton. But not many of them knew, during those days he was being crushed by Goldwater, about his background, what made him tick, or the country from which he sprang.

I've been driving through Bill Scranton's backyard today — the anthracite area of northeast Pennsylvania. It is green and beautiful in the summer, stark and ugly in the winter. Today the lush foliage of the mountains covers the gaunt, gray piles of mine waste and the open minute pits, scars of an era when coal was king and made this one of the most prosperous industrial regions in the world.

And the lower the standard of teachers in the anthracite area, the more difficult it has been to enter colleges and universities — with the result that the educational level became more depressed, more discouraged and the task of lifting up the region by its boot straps more difficult.

Bill Scranton has started to change this and he's got some welcome help from the Kennedy-Johnson administration. Things move slowly in the anthracite region, but they are beginning to move.

It's only natural that Bill Scranton is a hero in his own bailiwick. The biggest question which folks at home ask is: What is Bill's future? Will he run again? They want him to, but no one knows the answer.

Scranton cannot succeed himself as governor of Pennsylvania. The law does not permit it. Out of office in 1966, he will have a hard time keeping in the limelight until the next election in 1968. Sometimes the tide of history moves relentlessly and fast. And the man who does not ride on the crest of the wave is washed up on the beach of obscurity.

So it may be with the smiling, courageous young governor who had the guts to buck the tide at San Francisco.

"Say, I Feel Pretty Comfortable in This One"

The World Today

Issue: To Debate Or Not Debate?

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The day after John F. Kennedy squeaked through to victory in the 1960 elections his brother and campaign manager, Robert F. Kennedy, said it couldn't have happened if Vice President Richard M. Nixon hadn't agreed to those four debates on nationwide television and radio.

The next day President-elect Kennedy said the same thing.

A few months later the delegates to the Republican National Convention in 1960 were polled by the Indianapolis News which asked what they thought had caused Nixon's defeat. The consensus of 780 of the 1,331 delegates was that the big mistake was Nixon's debates with Kennedy.

Much later President Kennedy said he would debate his Republican opponent in 1964. But by then Kennedy had enormously built up his popular support. President Johnson, in office only a little more than eight months, is still trying to build up his.

The lesson of 1960 can hardly be lost on Johnson, a man who figures the angles. Only this week it became known he is thinking of making few barnstorming trips in his year's campaign, explaining to his Cabinet how highly successful President Roosevelt was in the 1936 and 1940 elections when he tightly limited his electioneering.

It's no wonder he hasn't responded yet to Sen. Barry Goldwater's challenge to debate in front of the nation or that his press secretary, George Reedy, told newsmen Wednesday such a debate is not a matter the Democrats would consider until the campaign begins next September.

At the time of the 1960 debates Nixon, by the fact of his office, had been in the public eye seven years and was a national figure while Kennedy, except for such exposure as he got in the 1960 primary contests, was a relatively unknown senator from Massachusetts.

The four debates, with an audience of perhaps 70 million people watching each time, gave Kennedy an audience he couldn't otherwise have reached no matter how hard he campaigned. And Nixon, by an accident of wrong make-up and lighting, got off on the wrong foot in the very first debate.

Besides, the four so-called debates were not debates on the issues. The liveliest was the Quemoy-Matsu question. Instead of discussing issues, the two men were stating positions and by the fourth debate were repeating themselves.

A lot of voters almost certainly made their choice on what they thought came through their television screens — like personality and sincerity or the lack of it — and neither man was able to reveal his thinking fully in the limited time they had to answer questions from newsmen and television commentators.

Last January Goldwater said if he was president he wouldn't debate a candidate running against him. He said: "Why buy his audience? Let him get his own." And he added: "I think it's kind of dangerous to subject a president of the United States to questioning and debate."

"After all, he is the most responsible job in the world and he might just slip and say something inadvertently that could even change the course of history."

In other statements he said: "I don't think a president should debate anybody. I would excuse a president who refused to debate."

Goldwater himself refused to debate New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Pennsylvania's Gov. William W. Scranton. They were willing to but Goldwater said he could "understand why Nelson and Bill would welcome a little help in getting an audience but I think I'll let them try their hand at getting their own."

Two days ago Goldwater told House Republicans he is "ready, willing, and able" to debate Johnson. But Wednesday he said he is still "apprehensive" about the possibility that secret information could slip out in a wide-open meeting.

He said he thinks Johnson will eventually agree to debate him. But Johnson has an audience already. Simply because he's president he can stay in the public eye daily through the campaign, with pronouncements and televised news conferences. Goldwater can't match that, no matter how much money he spends.

Pain of Water on Knee Can Affect Whole Leg

By Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.,
Newspaper Enterprise Association

Does water on the knee cause pain to the whole leg? What treatment would you recommend?

Water on the knee is an accumulation of joint fluid due to an inflammatory process. It may be associated with allergic arthritis, infectious arthritis or an injury. In persons with this condition there may be pain in the whole leg and the treatment would depend on your own individual situation. In some victims the best treatment is tight bandaging of the knee in a slightly bent position, keeping the knee elevated and applying ice bags for two or three days. In others it may be necessary to remove the fluid and inject a small amount of hydrocortisone into the joint. One thing is certain — this is a condition that should not be neglected.

What is the connection between nerves and allergy?

Foods and drugs that cause allergic reactions may affect the nervous system. This is especially true of milk, eggs, chocolate, quinine, arsenic, sulfonamides and liver extract. Depending on which nerves are affected, the victims may have blurred vision, deafness, convulsions, dizziness, headache, paralysis of one or more limbs or even mental symptoms. As with any other allergic manifestations, dramatic improvements follows identification and avoidance of the offending substance.

Of course, if you are referring to nervous tension, this can aggravate any form of allergy. It is important first to find out which drugs you are allergic to. With the recent development of many new drugs your doctor can almost always find one to fit your needs — one to which you are not allergic.

What is Tofranil given for and what are its side effects?

Tofranil is a brand of imipramine. It is given for depression. The side effects include dryness of the mouth, blurred vision, rapid pulse, and constipation but these rarely occur unless the dosage is too large.

Copper Called Backbone Of the Chilean Economy

By JOSE M. ORLANDO

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—Copper dug under the supervision of U.S. companies supplies the backbone of Chile's economy.

The companies, frequently plagued by strikes, may be taken over by the government after the Sept. 4 presidential election. A communist supported candidate who is running a strong race, Salvador Allende, says flatly he will nationalize the mines if elected.

Not all the workers are disgruntled, but one at Sewell, the town around Kennecott's El Teniente Mine, 120 miles south of Santiago, told a reporter the U.S. companies "are like a huge octopus, suffocating us to death."

"We need Allende or another leftist to win the election so we can have better salaries and lower prices of consumer goods here," he added. He spoke with the understanding he would not be identified.

The man's grumblings were echoed by half a dozen other miners. They were idly leaning against the rails that keep people from falling down along the stairs that replace streets at Sewell, a town of 13,000 precariously perched on the 45-degree slope of a 9,000-foot mountain.

These men are the best-paid workers in Chile. Against an average per capita income of $325 a year, copper workers make around $2,000 a year, plus such benefits as free medical care and cheap rent.

The Anaconda and Kennecott copper companies handle nearly 90 per cent of copper production in Chile, through a billion-dollar investment in four mines.

The mines include Kennecott's El Teniente, the world's largest underground mine, operated by a subsidiary, the Braden Copper Co.; Anaconda's Chuquicamata, in northern Chile and one of the biggest open-pit mines in the world; and two smaller Anaconda mines.

These produce well over half a million tons of copper every year. Work has been stopped 123 times by strikes since 1955, when new legislation was adopted. These strikes have cost Chile 280,000 tons and $168 million in lost production.

The two U.S. companies pay the government $80 million a year in taxes. Chile draws around 70 per cent of its foreign exchange earnings from copper.

"If government personnel or workers in other fields go on strike, the government shows a firm hand," said a top executive of a U.S. copper company. "The troops come out, the strikers are fired and the movements are quickly broken."

"But come a copper strike, and the story changes. The government of President Jorge Alessandri doesn't want to endanger the goose laying the golden eggs. So, they come to us and say: 'Come on, fellows, give the workers the raises they want so we can settle this thing quickly.'"

The government feels the companies' charges go too far.

"We try to do what is best for our country, but always keeping well in mind the rights and interests of both the companies and the workers," a high official said.

Not all copper workers complain.

"We live all right," said Jose Sanchez, 27. "The food is expensive but we have many other compensations, including good salaries." He makes around $190 a month.

Both Kennecott and Anaconda keep their non-Chilean staffs at a minimum. Out of 7,000 persons working for Kennecott, only 23 are Americans. There are 400 Chileans executives and technicians being paid in dollars. Of the 8,000 persons at Anaconda, 80 are Americans and 320 Chileans earn high salaries paid in dollars.

The senator said he is still apprehensive about debates involving Johnson because he fears U.S. secrets might be aired in the heat of a live television debate.

He suggested a revised format, skipping the reporters' questions that were a fixture of the Kennedy-Nixon debates.

Instead, Goldwater said, his staff and Johnson's could discuss in advance material that could be covered "without having to fear secret or top secret disclosures."

"I think it would be better to have a problem stated and then both sides present their solution," Goldwater said.

Goldwater said that his meeting with Johnson last Friday convinced him that civil rights tensions will not be injected into the campaign by either nominee or the men around him.

Midwest Governors Meeting on Aug. 11

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—Economic problems and development of their areas will be discussed by midwestern governors in a meeting Aug. 11 with representatives from their states. Gov. Frank Morrison said Wednesday.

Morrison, chairman of the Midwestern Governors Conference, said the session will be similar to a meeting of midwest governors recently with senators from their states.

Morrison said purpose of the meeting will be to "discuss problems of economic development and take steps to implement economic expansion in the midwest."

He said he will attend and has invited other governors to do so or send representatives.

States included are Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri, Minnesota, Indiana, Ohio, North and South Dakota, Illinois, Wisconsin, Michigan and Iowa.

Shaken Up Youth Enjoys 'Copter Ride

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Robert Lee, 10, had put in a hard day sliding down a sandy hill above Ocean Beach.

Then he slid too far, tumbled down a 200-foot rocky cliff, and was fetched up unconscious on the beach.

When he regained consciousness he was in a helicopter which took him to an ambulance, which took him to a hospital.

Doctors found only slight cuts and bruises and sent him home. Robert said riding in the helicopter was more fun even than sliding down the hill.

Independence Is Defeated In Tournament Wednesday

The Fulton Sports defeated the Independence Ketcham Oldsmobiles 3-0 Wednesday night in one of the better played games of the Missouri State Semi-Pro Baseball Tournament. The game was a pitchers' and players' defensive battle up to the top of the sixth inning when Fulton took over the lead, never to relinquish it.

Only a fair sized crowd was in the stands to see the one game on the schedule played, and those who failed to show up missed an exceptionally well played contest.

Fulton had only one earned run — but that was ample to win the game anyway — the other two were a cushion on the victory.

The win puts Fulton against

Mike DeLozier Preparing For Tourney Trip

Mike DeLozier, 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. DeLozier, 237 South Park, will enjoy a full week of activities as well as some rugged competition in the National Jaycee Junior Golf Tournament Aug. 3-8 at South St. Paul, Minn.

Young DeLozier represented the Sedalia Jaycees in the state junior golf playoffs at Springfield and finished fourth with a 75. The first four winners in the state meet are eligible for an expenses-paid trip to the national playoffs and Mike leaves Sunday morning for Minnesota.

DeLozier and the other three Missouri golfers will be driven to South St. Paul by Max Davis, a member of the Springfield Jaycee chapter.

Monday the boys check in and register, a dance is on tap Monday night, qualifying rounds are Tuesday and Wednesday with a trip to a Minnesota Twins baseball game slated Tuesday night and a pre-Olympic hockey game on Wednesday evening.

Actual tournament competition begins Thursday morning and continues through Saturday. An awards banquet Saturday night concludes the week's schedule.

Instructional clinics are scheduled for the first day the boys arrive at the tournament and top pros in golf are to be on hand.

Young DeLozier has been doing some fast practicing this week with a new set of golf clubs. He plays the Country Club course here and his clubs were among those burglars carted off in a break-in overnight Monday.

Bouton Continues Angels Mastery

By MURRAY CHASS

Associated Press Sports Writer

Jim Bouton, who made baseball news last winter by demanding a 100 per cent pay raise — and was refused — continues his mastery of the pesky Los Angeles Angels.

Bouton, the New York Yankees' determined pre-season holdout, stopped Los Angeles 5-0 on four hits Wednesday night, extending his scoreless inning string over the Angels to 37.

The victory was Bouton's 11th against eight defeats, making him the second biggest winner for the American League leaders. Whitey Ford is the biggest with 12.

The 25-year-old right-hander wasn't in much of a mood to do any winning for the Yankees during their contract hassle in March.

Bouton, remaining at home in New Jersey, wanted a 100 per cent increase in salary to $20,000 for his 21st performance in 1963. New York offered a top figure of $18,000.

Then, General Manager Ralph Houk issued Bouton an ultimatum: Either he report to spring training camp or have $100 per day lifted from his pay.

Finding no other way out, Bouton gave in.

All of the hits off him Wednesday night were singles and he let only one Angel past first base.

Elsewhere in the AL, Baltimore outlasted Minnesota 4-3. Detroit nipped Chicago 3-2. Boston edged Kansas City 3-2 and Washington downed Cleveland 4-1 in 12 innings.

The Yankees grabbed a 3-0 lead against starter Bo Belinsky, with two runs scoring in the second on Jim Fregosi's two-base throwing error and Clete Boyer's sacrifice fly and another coming home on Mickey Mantle's single in the third. Elston Howard drove in the last two with a bases-loaded single in the seventh.

The Orioles remained one game behind the Yankees in the AL race. Homers by Sam Bowens, with one on in the third, and Norm Siebern, none on in the seventh, supported clutch

Golf's New Faces

Tony An Exciting Figure In Modern Day Golf Scene

NEW YORK (AP)—"I'm third on the money-winning list but first on the money-spending list," Champagne Tony Lema told the dour Scots at St. Andrews.

Before he had departed the crochety old course beside the Firth of Forth, Champagne Tony had the undemonstrative, golf-worshipping natives in the middle of his overlapping grip.

They loved him. They loved his golf and they loved his sparkling personality, which bubbled like his champagne. They christened him the "Jolly Yank."

Lema, 30, a tall, good-looking ex-Marine from the little town of San Leandro, Calif., didn't have to win the British Open to establish himself as one of the most exciting figures in modern day golf. It merely embellished the image.

Before flying to Scotland, Lema was the hottest player on the American tour. He had won four tournaments—two more than any other player—and had pocketed first prize money in two $100,000 events, the Thundersbird and Cleveland Open.

He was pushing Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer for the year's money winning honors and at the same time building up a tremendous fan club with his natural, champagne-like effervescence.

The champagne gimmick helped. Tony was playing in the Orange County Open in California in 1962 when he passed some reporters drinking beer. "If I win, I'll spring for champagne," he said.

He won, and he did. It's become a trademark.

For all his clowning, Tony has proved himself also a craftsman—with the boldness of a pirate and the nerve of a burglar.

Lema came into golf without the amateur or early tournament background of most of his rivals. He got a job as a professional's assistant shortly after getting out of the Marines in 1955. He drifted into the tour and survived for a few years with the backing of businessmen friends.

A classic swinger who is long off the tee and very accurate with his irons, Lema had five lean seasons, never winning more than $12,000, until his game suddenly jelled in the summer of 1962. Last year he collected $67,112.52.

Find No Relation Between Good Diet and Friendship

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — So far as I know, science has never undertaken a study of the relations between dieting and friendship.

Well, there is quite a relationship, and it boils down to this: No matter what he does, a fat man cannot please his buddies.

Suppose you are named Alfred, you are over 40 years of age, and you weigh a pudgy 217 pounds. Let us suppose you are also tired of having lifelong friends prod fingers into your bulging stomach and saying:

"Alf, I'm proud of you." "Alf, you'll feel like a new man."

"Alf, try eating nothing but whipped cream and cole slaw for a week. I guarantee it."

"Alf, eat a quart of dry bran for breakfast, a hardboiled egg for lunch, and a pickled pomegranate for dinner."

So in a month you take off 15 pounds and are down to 202. You are rather proud of yourself, but when you meet old friends they say things like:

"It looks like you're putting it on again, Alf. I thought you said you were going on a diet."

"What do you mean you lost 15 pounds? Where?"

This makes you angry. You really buckle down. You cut out the pickled pomegranate and the whipped cream. You concentrate on the hardboiled egg, the cole slaw, and the bran. You strain the can of sauerkraut juice through an even older piece of old lace to be sure to get rid of every possible calorie.

You join a gym club. You take steam baths. You run five miles every day. You work out twice daily with barbells.

At the end of three months of this you can lift a 100-lb weight overhead with either hand. Your stomach is ridged and hard like a washboard. And you are down to a trim 172 pounds, just what you weighed when you played substitute halfback in college.

So when you bump into those lifelong friends you expect a chorus of congratulations. But what happens? You have done an unforgivable thing—you have become slimmer than they are.

They can no longer feel smugly sorry for you in the old way. So they have to find a new way to feel sorry for you.

So they say things like:

"Alf, you look so haggard I hardly recognized you."

"Gee, kid, I didn't know you'd been sick. Why didn't you let me know. I'd have sent you a get-well card."

"You seem tensed up, Alf. Whatever happened to that old bubbly sense of humor you used to have?"

The best thing to do then is to kick their feet out from under them, step firmly on their jealous, mushy-mouthed faces—then celebrate by going into the nearest drugstore and ordering a double chocolate malted milk, extra thick.

Among places visited were Bardstown, Ky.; Lincoln's birthplace at Hodgenville, Ky.; Churchill Downs; in Louisville, the famous track where the Kentucky Derby is run each year; Lexington, Ky.; Lexington, Va.; Jefferson's home, Monticello; Mt. Vermont; Washington, D. C.; Philadelphia; New York City and the World's Fair; many historical sites in Boston, Mass.; including Paul Revere's House, Orchard House, Longfellow's Home, the Old Manse, and Wayside Inn; Plymouth, Mass.; and a drive along the rock-bound coast of Maine, with stops at scenic and historic points, to Bar Harbor, Maine.

Also included in the tour was the trip by ferry on the Bluenose, 6,000 ton ship, to Yarmouth, Nova Scotia; Grand Pre Memorial Park, the Evangeline country; Halifax, Nova Scotia; Fredericton, New Brunswick; Quebec; Montreal; a cruise through the Thousand Islands on the St. Lawrence River; Kingston and Kitchener, Ontario; Niagara Falls; attended the Shakespearian play, Richard III at Stratford, Ontario; Fort Wayne, Ind.; and Springfield, Ill.

A short stop was made at the birthplace of James Whitcomb Riley at Greenfield, Ind.; and at Samuel Clemens' (Mark Twain) home, Hannibal.

MUSHROOMING ideas for new uses of space-age products produce conceptions such as this: two-level house with mushroom-shaped, overhanging roof.

DOUGHNUT-SHAPED glass fiber structure has inner area offering privacy for family recreation.

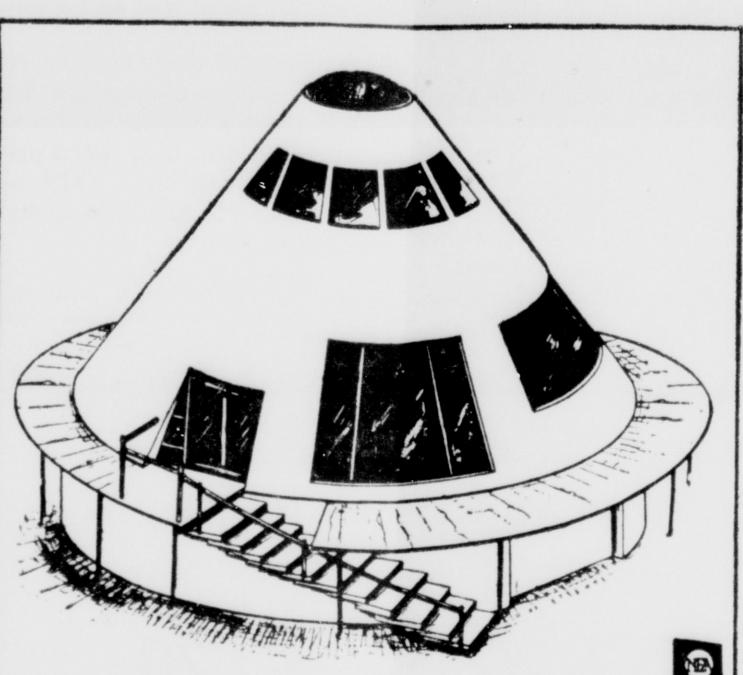

MELON-SECTION home with sliding walls is one possibility for use of filament-winding technique.

Architectural Menu

Maison Mushroom Peter Pumpkin Shell Donut Delight Upside-down Cone

A bit unbalanced nutritionally, but the "menu," above, describes fanciful appearance of houses sketched here. They're doodlings by designers who work with the plastic-bonded glass filament used at present in space-bound objects. Buildings would be "spun" right on the building site, around a collapsible, balloonlike form. Color would be built right in. This summer reverie dreamt up over a hot drawing board by Goodyear Aerospace Corp. people.

SPINNING DREAMS, designers come up with this upside-down cone wound from plastic-bonded glass filament.

World News Glimpses

MOSCOW (AP) — U.N. Secretary-General U Thant said today the Soviet Union apparently is sticking to its decision not to pay the $52.6 million it owes for U.N. peacekeeping operations.

Thant discussed the matter Tuesday and Wednesday with Premier Khrushchev and Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

"I did not get the impression that the Soviet government is prepared to change its policy on this matter," Thant said.

He said his talks had covered wide ground — the future of the United Nations, the financial situation, disarmament, Southeast Asia and the Caribbean.

"Mr. Khrushchev is sincere in his desire to strengthen the United Nations. He wants to see it develop into an effective instrument for the maintenance of peace. But his approach to the problem is different from that of some other member states," Thant said.

Negro Boy's Death Is Ruled a Suicide

ATLANTA (AP) — The death of a Negro boy found mysteriously hanged four weeks ago has been officially listed as suicide.

Dr. Henry M. Snell, Fulton County medical examiner, in a certificate signed Wednesday gave the cause of death as "asphyxia due to hanging." The verdict: suicide.

The body of 14-year-old Jerry Maxey was found July 1 hanging from an oak tree in a lonely wooded area of northwest Atlanta.

But the boy's father, Robert Maxey Sr., said he could not accept the suicide finding.

"Jerry wouldn't have killed himself," he declared. "I don't believe it."

The Far Eastern Council of Christian Churches has condemned President Charles de Gaulle's proposal to neutralize Southeast Asia and Soviet Premier Khrushchev's proposal for total disarmament.

In a resolution adopted Wednesday at the council's fifth general assembly, it said De Gaulle's proposal "encourages the Communists and marks a road of appeasement and retreat and defeat."

Dog Interest Grows Fast In America

GAITHERSBURG, Md. (AP) — Are the complexities and congestion of man's modern world crowding his best friend out of the picture?

Not on your life, says dog expert Alfred Dick, the new executive vice president of the American Kennel Club.

"I think dogs are becoming more meaningful, more useful, more necessary for their companionship, the joy that can be anyone's who has a dog," he said.

Isn't space becoming a problem?

"You have to live in New York to see how valuable dogs are to people who live in small apartments. I have seen the biggest kind of dog come out of the smallest places," he said.

Dick spoke on modern dogdom in an interview Wednesday night at the second annual conference of the Professional Handlers Association. It was a gathering of dog owners, handlers, show judges, and association members from 13 states and the District of Columbia.

Commission Wednesday to put good news can be made even better. "America is prospering," he said. "Our goal and our guide must be to make sure that America's farmers prosper in proportion, too."

The time has come," the President said, "to find and put to use some better answers to farm policy than we have had in many years."

Addressing the group at the White House, Johnson said farmers have been getting good news about agriculture lately including increased exports, higher net income and higher profits.

Goldwater Enlists Three Republicans

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater enlisted three top Republicans Wednesday, Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton among them, in his crusade to forge a unified party and wrest the White House from President Johnson.

"I'm very pleased with the way the Republican party seems to be coming back together," the GOP presidential nominee declared Wednesday.

Goldwater announced that Scranton will serve as host when he summons Republican leaders from across the nation into a summit conference on party unity next month at Hershey, Pa.

He named Ohio GOP Chairman Ray Bliss and the party's former national chairman, Leonard Hall, to serve on a steering and planning committee that will map his campaign strategy and schedule.

Goldwater announced those moves at an impromptu news conference, with Bliss at his side.

The GOP presidential nominee, fresh from a conference with his party's top congressional leaders, also:

Said he thinks Johnson eventually will agree to meet him in televised campaign debates, but suggested a new format and added he still is "apprehensive" about the possibility that secret information could slip out in a wide open meeting.

Goldwater called for two-man debates, without the panels of newsmen who questioned former Vice President Richard M. Nixon and the late President John F. Kennedy in their 1960 campaign meetings. He said in foreign affairs and military areas the nominees would have to "tread very carefully."

Commented he is convinced after meeting with Johnson last Friday that inflammatory talk, particularly about a white backlash against the civil rights movement, will be kept out of the campaign at the nominees' level. Goldwater said he hopes other people who speak out during the presidential race will be careful, too.

Reported the party is moving more quickly than he had expected toward unity for the presidential campaign.

Mary Long Earns 4-H Grant From The University

Miss Mary Long, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Long, Bunceton, has been awarded a $150 J. R. Watkins scholarship to attend the University of Missouri, Columbia, this fall. Scholarships are awarded to 4-H members who have outstanding club records. Miss Long, 18 years old, will major in music.

Miss Long estimates she has saved more than $1,300 in work she has done in her 4-H projects. During nine years of clothing project, she made clothing for herself and her family. In home management projects, she rebuilt a storage room into a bedroom for herself and refinished other rooms in the home.

She has been elected to 12 offices in 4-H clubs. As junior leader in charge of recreation, she uses her musical talents. In addition to her 4-H club work, she has piano students.

Mississippi party threw its whole weight behind the unpledged electors and denounced the national candidates.

Some of the regular Democrats had been expected to ask the state party to put up presidential electors pledged to Republican nominee Barry Goldwater, but the move did not materialize. Observers said they expected a battle at the Sept. 9 recess convention by Goldwater Democrats to capture the Democratic electors.

Freezing Fruits and Vegetables

Most all the fresh fruits and vegetables may be frozen quite successfully. However, it is good to follow directions for the best results. Bulletins to help you with this are available in our office. Just write or phone for your copy. Have it on hand for the local fresh season which is now underway. Should vegetables be blanched before freezing? The answer is yes, generally. Blanching retards the enzyme action in the vegetable that causes it to continue maturing after the harvest. It will continue to mature to a certain extent under freezing conditions unless it is blanched first.

Freezing Baked Foods

Cakes with shortening may be frozen before or after baking. However, there may be less volume in cakes from frozen batter than from fresh. Cakes frozen after baking usually give more uniform results. Convenience may be the deciding factor. Storage time: baked, 4 to 9 months; unbaked, 3 to 4 months.

Cakes without shortening, angel and sponge, should be frozen only after baking. Even when properly frozen they have a tendency to develop off-flavors quickly. Lemon juice or another antioxidant added to the batter retards the development of off-flavors. Angel and sponge cakes can be frozen up to four months, but for convenience sake wrap in smaller pieces or slices, and freeze up to two weeks.

Frozen cake batter — when frozen right in the cake pan or in other containers, can be thawed at room temperature (approximately 30 minutes) and bake immediately after batter is thawed.

Frozen unfrosted baked cakes can be thawed in wrapping about two hours at room temperature. For quicker thawing, place in wrapping in front of fan, or unwrap and place unfrosted cakes in a very slow oven (250 degrees) for a short time.

Frozen frosted cake — thaw and keep a frosted cake in refrigerator until serving time.

Frozen frostings and fillings—uncooked powdered sugar frostings freeze best. Fat in frosting helps keep it from drying and forming crystals. Dandy-type frostings such as fudge and penuche are satisfactory if cake is stored a short time. They may crack after three or four weeks. Boiled and other soft frostings and cream fillings are not suitable for cakes to be frozen. Those with egg white may dry out and become crystallized.

Yeast breads—the main questions are whether to bake it before freezing, or partly bake it for brown-and-serve products.

Prebaking — It is generally considered that yeast breads are better if prebaked before freezing. Cool before freezing and wrap tightly in moisture-vapor-resistant wrapping. Frozen brown-and-serve rolls are another way to hold yeast rolls successfully. (Partially bake, then freeze.)

Freezing yeast dough—Yeast breads and rolls may be frozen as dough, however, if they are to be stored not longer than around six weeks. Results are better with unshaped than with shaped frozen rolls. Yeast doughs sometimes do not rise properly after freezing, because the yeasts lose their ability to form the carbon dioxide needed or because that formed before freezing has been lost (as in the batters). When freezing unbaked dough it is suggested that if sugar is called for it be increased slightly. Coating all surfaces with fat helps prevent toughening of the crust.

Freezing Peaches

Here's how to keep the fruit from darkening in air. Slice peaches directly into the cold syrup which was prepared and cooled ahead of time. To make the syrup, dissolve 3 cups of sugar in 4 cups of water. This makes about 5½ cups of syrup. You'll need two-thirds cup of syrup for each pint container of peaches. To help peaches keep their natural color and flavor while in the freeze, add powdered ascorbic acid. Use ½ teaspoon of ascorbic acid to each 4 cups of syrup. It is sold at drug stores and some freezer-locker plants.

Freeze Your Own French Fries

Peel and cut the potatoes into lengthwise strips. Rinse these in cold water to remove surface starch, and dry thoroughly with a towel. Fry the strips in deep fat or oil about four minutes, at room temperature. Pat lightly the container tightly, bring with paper towels to remove fat back to boiling as quickly as possible. Start to count processing time and boil gently and steadily for time recommended. The unthawed par-fries for 10 minutes at 500 degrees, turning wire rack to cool. Complete the seals if necessary.

Heat Process for Pickles And Relishes

Pickle products require heat treatment to destroy organisms that cause spoilage and to inactivate enzymes that may affect flavor, color, and texture. Processing is recommended for all pickle products. In open kettle canning there is always danger of spoilage organisms entering the food when it is 5 minutes per pint. Fresh-pack dill pickles 20 minutes per quart. Sauerkraut 20 minutes per quart, 15 minutes per pint. Fresh-pack dill pickles 20 minutes per quart. Sweet Gherkins 15 minutes per quart. Pickled peaches 20 minutes per quart. Watermelon pickles 5 minutes per pint. Tomato-apple Pickle Slices (Bread and Butter Pickles) 5 minutes per pint. Tomato-peach chutney 5 minutes per pint. Tomato-peach chutney 5 minutes per pint. Piccalilli 5 minutes per pint. Pepper-onion relish 5 minutes per pint. Corn relish 15 minutes per pint.

For fermented cucumbers and fresh pack dills, start to count the processing time as soon as filled jars are placed in the actively boiling water. This prevents development of cooked flavor and loss of crispness.

Processing time: Fermented dill pickles 15 minutes per quart. Sauerkraut 20 minutes per quart, 15 minutes per pint. Fresh-pack dill pickles 20 minutes per quart. Sweet Gherkins 15 minutes per quart. Pickled peaches 20 minutes per quart. Watermelon pickles 5 minutes per pint. Tomato-apple Immense filled jars into actively boiling water in deep kettle. Tomato-peach chutney 5 minutes per pint. Tomato-peach chutney 5 minutes per pint. Piccalilli 5 minutes per pint. Pepper-onion relish 5 minutes per pint. Corn relish 15 minutes per pint.

The term bootlegging came into general use in the Midwest in the 1880s. In states where whisky was illegal many people carried flasks concealed in boot tops. It became common in the U.S. vocabulary during the era of national prohibition in the 1920s.
